CHANGE OF TRADE MARK.

THE L. & R. THE STAR.

Ammoniated Soluble Superphosphate | Ammoniated Soluble Superphosphate

THE STAR AMMONIATED SOLUBLE SUPER PHOSPHATE, having gained on its own merits the greatest reputation of any Fertilizer ever sold in the United States,—Other manufacturers, are using the trade mark of the "STAR," for their articles, much inferior in quality, and that cost 100 per cent less, in order to make money for themselves, regardless of the interest of the poor farmer. The manufactures of the original "STAR," with ourselves have determined, in order to prevent the great impositions, now being practiced in some parts of the United States, and to save the name of that formerly known as the "STAR" to change the trade mark to L. & R. with the above cut, which has been duly patented. Next Season each sack will contain precisely the same Fertilizer as we sold last season, but will be stamped with the new trade mark. and the words will be printed on the back of each sack with the analysis. We refer to all farmers who have used the STAR as to the reputation and value of the article as a Fertilizer.

FORMERLY THE STAR AMMONIATED

SOLUBLE

☞ THE SUBSCRIPTION LIST OF THE DAILY NEWS IS LARGER THAN THAT OF ANY OTHER DAILY IN THE STATE, AND MORE THAN DOUBLE THAT OF ANY OTHER DAILY IN RALEIGH. ADVERTISERS WILL MAKE A NOTE OF THIS.

WEATHER REPORT.

A hurricane centre will probably approach the North Carolina coast and increasing northeast to northwest winds, cooler, cloudy and rainy weather, with falling barometer, will prevail in the South Atlantic States,

——Hiram Lodge meets to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock.

——Sweet potatoes and Scuppernong grapes are "on," now.

——All the churches of the city will be open for services to-day.

——Many people wore overcoats, yesterday, and in some places fires were kept burning all day.

——The premium list for the next Fair of the State Agricultural Society, will be out to-morrow or Tuesday.

——Henry P. Tunrer, of Winona, Miss., has been appointed a Commissioner of Deeds for North Carolina, resident in Mississippi.

——The Board of County Examiners on yesterday examined and awarded first grade certificates to Messrs. Jas. T. Crowder and H. D. Edwards.

——The teachers of the Penitentiary Sunday School are requested to be on hand promptly to-day. They were few last Sunday, and inconvenience resulted.

——"I slip, I slide, I gleam, I glide, among the rocky gutters," is now the refrain of the average citizen. All on account of grape hulls and watermelon rinds.

——C. Weikle, merchant tailor, has just returned home from the Northern markets, where he laid in a full and elegant stock of fall and winter clothing. He has all the latest styles.

——Messrs. D. S. Waitt & Bro., on yesterday moved from their old stand to the store room above, 52 Fayetteville street, the late stand of Mr. J. M. Towles. They put a quantity of new goods into their new store, as well all of as their old stock.

——Yesterday afternoon, in front of the Market House, a mule hitched to a cart, got its head fastened, in some unaccountable way, in the shaft, and fell down. The cart tilted, and a colored woman was thrown out, fortunately falling on her head. She was not hurt.

——Maj. A. M. Lewis, of this city, C. M. Cook, Esq., Maj. Harris, and perhaps others, spoke, yesterday, at Youngsville, Franklin county, just beyond the Wake line. The Louisburg Band was present, and when our informant passed, quite a crowd was gathering.

Political Conversions in Wake Forest Township.

Mr. Hamilton Jones, son of Gen. Wiley D. Jones, of Wake Forest Township, has tendered his resignation as a member of the Republican County Executive Committee, and has announced his purpose to support the Democratic party in the future. Gen. Jones himself avows that he will not touch the county Republican ticket, and is almost ready to turn his back upon Republicanism in general. One of the colored delegates to the late Republican County Convention, from the township named, has announced his purpose to support the Democratic county ticket, for the reason, as he alleges, that the minority in the convention which he attended as a delegate, were overslaughed and allowed no rights upon the floor. In his new departure it is said upon good authority that he will be followed certainly by twelve men of his own color in his township, and probably by others. He requests that this announcement be made in this public manner, and wishes it understood that he intends to vote as he pleases and not as he is told.

The Republicans have been expecting gains in Wake Forest Township, but the reverse will be the case.

Investment of School Fund.

The State Board of Education, of which the Governor is ex officio President, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Secretary, on yesterday had $6,906 of the school fund of the State invested in 5 per cent. gold bearing 10-40 United States bonds, the bonds of the denomination of $1,000 each.

The Late Capt. S. T. Williams.

Details of the death of this gentleman are still lacking. The Weldon News says that he had gone to New York to have his eyes operated upon, when he was attacked by fever, which took his life. He died at 11 o'clock on Thursday night last, and his remains will be brought to Nash county for interment.

Franklin Court.

Court at Louisburg adjourned Friday evening. Fenner Sneed, colored, was convicted of larceny, and sentenced to two years in the State's prison. The Grand Jury will meet again next Thursday to continue their investigation into the alterations and forgeries of county orders

Old John Robinson's Circus and Menagerie.

The coming of the circus, yesterday morning, was the signal for the coming in of people from all direction, early in the morning, and by 10 o'clock the streets were crowded with people. A good crowd was under the canvas at the afternoon performance, and in the evening nearly all the available seats were occupied. Notwithstanding the previous reports to the contrary, the circus is a very excellent one; it is quite as good as ever, and was just as much enjoyed. True, it was much the same as it has been in the past, but all circuses are the same, and no one expected any novelties. The riding was nothing very extra, though Stickney is always good, and the colored boy Lewis added much to the attractiveness of this feature of the performance. The trapeze performance was tamer than usual, but the gymnastic, acrobatic and other performances, including the jugglery, were first-rate. John Lowlow has improved. He has some new jokes, he sings better, and, all in all, is a better clown than ever. He would redeem the circus if it were poor otherwise, as it is not. The collection of animals is good, and taking this combination as a whole, we can assure the devotees of the saw-dust ring, that they will find it as good this year as it has been in the past.

The Streets, Yesterday.

Circus day is a time when all mankind meets on a level—a painfully common level. If there is anything which will, quicker than whiskey, pull the aristocrat from his elevated plane down to the level of the common herd, it is the circus. All mankind feels its influence, and surrenders unconditionally to the fascinations of the gaily caparisoned elephants, the music of the band in its big wagon, and the savage looking men and dirt-colored women who ride on spotted horses through the streets of the city. These folks receive the momentary homage of prince and peasant alike; of the most cultivated female and the veriest ignoramus. The small boys of both colors, unite on the broad platform of humanity, and hand in hand, and heart beating responsive to heart, follow the music and the animals through the crowded streets, while the older heads stand upon the pavements with mouths agap, and never the power to say, "tut, son, tut."

Looking at these sights and reflecting upon the fact that these circus-followers are the sovereign people, the voters, the rulers of this great nation, one must needs blush at the boasted civilization of the nineteenth century, and wonder whether we as a people have not yet within us some of the elements of barbarity.

Aid for Savannah.

The accounts which reach us over the wires and otherwise, touching the suffering which is existing in Savannah on account of the yellow fever, are distressing in the extreme, and the Macedonian cry goes up momentarily from that stricken city. Great desolation prevails, and the sad condition of the people appeals strongly to the citizens of other places for their aid. Philadelphia, Baltimore, Nashville, Augusta and Charleston have responded to their calls, and the Board of Aldermen of the City of Charlotte, in our own State, at a meeting last Wednesday afternoon, authorized the Mayor of Savannah to draw on them for $300. They also appealed to their sister cities in North Carolina to give aid to the sufferers in Savannah, and the attention of the people of Raleigh is hereby called to the matter. The capital of the State should by all means do something in aid of their brethren in another Southern city. Who will take the initiatory step?

Arrest of Bummers.

Charles Barrett and Edward Barrett, followers of Robinson's Circus, were arrested, yesterday, as vagrants, at the request of the authorities of the circus, with which they had no connection. They were tried in the evening, before Mayor Manly, W. H. Pace appearing for them and T. R. Purnell prosecuting. After a hearing they were committed to jail in default of bail in the sum of $100 each, until information can be received concerning robberies which were committed in Warrenton and Henderson while the circus was at those place.

Run Over by a Wagon.

Yesterday morning, at the depot, a boy threw a paper under the circus wagon to which the ponies were hitched, when another boy jumped under the wagon to get it. Just as he did so, the ponies were started, and one wheel of the wagon, so our informant says, ran fairly across the boy's body, immediately after which he jumped up and ran off, without seeming to be hurt. The story is improbable; we suppose the wheel did not pass directly over his body, else he would have been injured.

Digests of Decisions of the Supreme Court, Summer Term, 1876.

A defendant, under our act of Assembly, has a right to have more than one of his counsel, or all that represent him, heard by the Judge and jury in his defence, upon his trial in the Superior Court. The presiding Judge has no authority to hear but one, or to restrict the counsel, in their remarks, to any particular length of time.

Can a Judge of the Superior Court imprison a defendant, convicted of an assault with intent to kill, in the county jail for five or more years.—Quere? State v. Miller.

A denial of the allegations of the complaint, made in the form prescribed, i. e., of any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief, being allowed by C. C. P., raises, when interposed, a sufficient issue. Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Baltimore v. The City of Charlotte.

In an action on a bond wherein eight per cent. is named as the rate of interest, but it is not expressed to be given for the loan of money as the consideration: IT WAS HELD, that the entire interest was not forfeited, but that the plaintiff was entitled to recover interest on such obligation at the rate of six per cent.

The penalty of forfeiture of the entire interest attaches in only two cases. First, when no rate is named in the obligation, and a greater rate than six per cent. is reserved; and second, when a greater rate than eight per cent. is named. Coble v. Shoffner, Adm'r.

A plaintiff after a judgment in his favor, has no right to have the defendant's land sold, without first having the defendant's homestead laid off. The excess, only after the homestead has been assigned to the defendant, is subject to execution sale.

The plaintiff brings an action in the nature of ejectment; and after trial and verdict, asks leave to amend the pleadings, so as to change it into an action to remove a cloud from her title, caused by fraudulent deeds set up by third persons: HELD, that such amendment was irregular, and ought not to have been allowed. Waters v. Stubbs.

When infant defendants, in a civil action or special proceeding, have no general or testamentary guardian, before a guardian ad litem can be appointed, a summons must be served upon such infants, and a copy of the complaint also be served or filed according to law. After the guardian ad litem is thus appointed in a special proceeding, a copy of the complaint with the summons, must be served on such guardian.

An administrator filed his petition to sell the lands of his intestate for assets, and had the widow appointed guardian ad litem, before the infants were in court by the service of any summons upon them; the widow answered for such infants only, and not in her own right—the attorney for the petitioning administrator, drafting and filing her answer. A decree was obtained and the land sold; and afterwards the widow became apprized of facts which constitute her equitable right to one of the tracts of land sold under said decree, and moved to set aside the decree and sale: HELD, that the decree thus obtained was irregular, and not binding either upon the infants or the widow, and that the sale under such decree, should be set aside. Moore v. Gidney, Adm'r.

A person whose life is insured by a Life Insurance Company, must have actual notice of the revocation of an agent's authority to receive premiums, to whom he has theretofore paid his premiums and obtained proper receipts, and to whom he paid his last premium but got no receipt, before he can be charged with any default, or before the company can legally cancel his policy. Braswell v. The American Life Insurance Company.

If a policy is wrongfully cancelled, insured has a right to recover back the amount paid as premiums and interest thereon, as "money had and received for his use," or upon a promise of the defendant to indemnify and save him harmless, which the law implies from the wrongful act of the defendant, in the cancellation of the policy; in which case the measure of damage would be the amount necessary to enable the insured to obtain another policy. Ibid.

True, Oh, King.

The Albemarle Times, speaking of its Fair, says:

"Another objection is, that all sorts of gambling, together with whiskey shops, are allowed on the grounds. These things can and should be stopped. When they are, we shall look for the Fair to be a grand success, and not till then."

True as gospel. Many promising Fairs have been nipped in the bud by the managers taking under their wings all manner of gambling, catch-penny, cut-throat schemes. An agricultural fair is one thing; a gambling hell is quite another, and the two things are absolutely irreconcilable.

Fruitless Attempt of a Pick-Pocket.

Yesterday morning after the circus procession had passed through the streets, and the whites and blacks was assembled at the Baptist Grove, waiting for the opening of the doors, the famous colored bare-back rider, Lewis, made an attempt to pick the pocket of Ishan Horton, a colored man, formerly a guard at the Penitentiary. Horton felt the hand in his pocket and seizing it with one hand turned quickly and with the other collared the would-be thief, who had the pocket book in his hand and drawn half way out. Horton brought him on up street until an officer was found. He was committed to the lock-up, but was allowed to ride at the afternoon performance, under the surveillance of a policemen. At 5 o'clock he was brought before Mayor Manly and submitted the case. He was fined fifty dollars and cost which sum was promtly paid.

Liberality of a Showman.

Mr. Jack Robinson, son of Old John, on yesterday presented one of the Shetland ponies which attracted so much attention hitched to their wagon, to Johnnie Blacknall, son of Dr. G. W. Blacknall, proprietor of the Yarborough House. Mr. Robinson had promised him one of them in the morning, but the little fellow told him that he was "so cunning and so full of tricks" that he never expected to hear of it again. However, when he went down to the canvas in the afternoon, Mr. Robinson met him at the door, carried him around to where the ponies were, and selected one for him. He came up town leading the Shetland by a rope, and the proudest and the happiest human in the place, not even excepting the newly married men. The pony is hardly higher than its young master.

Paint Needed.

It has been suggested that the Board of Aldermen call upon the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad Company to paint the bridge on Hillsboro street over its road, which has never been painted except by strolling fellows who have put on it the names of some sort of patent medicine; and also, that they call upon the Western Union Telegraph Company to paint their posts in the principal streets. These things would be rendered, by a little paint, less of eye-sores than they now are.

Drunk and Down.

The Mayor had before him, yesterday, numerous cases growing out of the too free use of spirits. Some of the cases were for drunk and down, and some plain drunk. It was a right busy day with him, and last night closed with five unfortunates in the lock-up, to be disposed of to-morrow morning. The evils which circuses do, live after them.

FROM THE CANDIDATES.

A Large Crowd and Great Enthusiasm at Shelby.

[Special to the News.]

SHELBY, Sept. 16.—An immense crowd was present to-day at this place to hear the debate between Gov. Vance and Judge Settle. The character of the debate, and the result were about the same as at the previous meetings of the candidates. Cleaveland being a strong Conservative county, the friends of Gov. Vance greatly predominated in number, and the enthusiasm for that gentleman was very great. Judge Settle received but cold comfort here; very few of his party friends were present; indeed, he has but few in this county. The Conservatives were highly delighted with the issue of the discussion, and will resume their work with renewed spirit. C.

Personal.

Rev. Dr. Vaughan has returned to the city, and will occupy his pulpit at the Presbyterian Church to-day.

The following named, together with others whose names could not be gotten, returned yesterday afternoon, from the Centennial and from Northern tours: A. D. Jenkins, Esq., A. P. Bryan, Esq., Messrs. Pool and Norris, with their brides, C. Weikel, Dr. Hogg, Dr. Davidson, R. T. Gray, Julius Lewis, Joseph Kreth, W. S. Primrose, J. A. Jones, L. R. Wyatt, Col. D. M. Carter, and Dr. Nall and family. I. F. Dortch, Esq., of Goldsboro, arrived on the same train from the Centennial.

State Treasurer Jenkins left yesterday afternoon, for his home in Charlotte.

Death.

Mr. Rufus S. Merrill of Boston, in a recent address before the American Chemical Society, asserted that between five and six thousand people perished in this country last year, victims of kerosene oil accidents. Somehow we hardly feel like urging people who are careless with kerosene oil to insure in The Travelers' Insurance Guide.

On the other hand all the leading insurance companies in the United States and in the world endorse Pratt's "Astral" Oil and recommend its use. It burns in any lamp, it is free from smell and smoke, is as cheap as the common kerosene that kills at least six thousand people yearly in the United States. You pay your money and take your choice. Julius Lewis & Co., hardware merchants Raleigh, N. C., sole agents for North Carolina.

Go Ahead.

But first be sure you are "All Right," Two thousand (2,000) "All Right" Cook Stoves sold so far by the undersigned. This stove is in all respects equal to any in the market, and possesses half a dozen advantages over any other. Prices as cheap as the cheapest. Julius Lewis & Co., Raleigh, N. C.

NORTH CAROLINA.

An unknown tramp died in Weldon last Wednesday.

A Schweitzer cheese, weighing 169 pounds, arrived in Wilmington a day or two ago.

Mr. J. R. Crawford has been elected captain of the new military company in Salisbury.

Mr. Jesse Edwards, of Wadesboro, was thrown from a horse last Friday evening, and was seriously, if not fatally injured.

Up in Caldwell county they are buying watches and one thing and another, with the money of the Bank of Mecklenburg.

George Washington couldn't tell a lie, but he could and did steal a pair of boots. It was in Wilmington a day or two ago.

Four prisoners attempted to escape from Halifax jail on Thursday. One got away and three were re-captured; one of the latter was shot but not fatally.

Mrs. H. P. R. Caldwell, the mother of the late Gov. Tod R. Caldwell, died on Tuesday at her residence in Burke county about ten miles from Morganton, in the eighty-first year of her age.

If your tongue is coated or if you have a bad baeath, take a dose of Dr. Bull's Pills. Price 25 cents.

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOS. T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York City. ap 16-D&W6m

A REMEDY THAT DEFIES COMPETITION.—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters defy competition. Of the host of rival tonics that have cropped up during its long career, not one has gained and retained such a large share of public favor, though many have enjoyed an ephemeral popularity. The reason is this, that whereas many of these medicines were advertised to perform cures of the most startling nature, they have when tested, almost invariably turned out to be of little or no value, while the great invigorant, whose reputation they were intended to rival, has never disappointed those who have placed their confidence in it. It has vindicated in the amplest manner its claims to be considered a positive specific remedy for liver complaint, dyspepsia, malarious fevers debility, constipation, and numerous other maladies, arising from general weakness and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels.

From Edward Jennings, M. D., Surgeon City Hospital Halifax: "Coulen's Liebig's Liquid Extract of Beef and Tonic Invigorator is a very agreeable article of diet. In Dyptheria, Fevers, and every depressing disease, its use will be found invaluable. Williams & Maywood, agents.

JUDGE RUSSELL does not like to talk about civil rights. But don't he love to act it!

JUDGE DANIEL L. RUSSELL says the civil rights question is dead and out of the campaign. Not so, Mr. Russell, while the Republicans resist the amendments to the Constitution.

THE Washington Republican expects every Southern State to go for Tilden except, "perhaps," North Carolina. That "perhaps" is well put in. It stands for about 15,000 Democratic majority.

THE canvass of Gov. Vance and Judge Settle in the transmontane country has closed. They will speak no more west of the Blue Ridge. From the most accurate information we can obtain, we believe that Gov. Vance will leave that section of the State with a gain of not less than 2,000 votes on the Merrimon vote.

SENATOR RANSOM, in his speech at Wilmington last Wednesday expressed some sound views upon the negro question, which we print elsewhere to-day. His views upon any subject connected with the politics of the day, are of real value. He is recognized among the Northern people as one of the truest representatives of our section—one of the finest types of the Southerner; and whatever he says in regard to the great questions of the time deserves to be pondered well. He expressed the sentiments of the entire white population of our part of the Union—a few Radicals excepted—when he says that it is "the consummation of folly for the negroes to expect to control the government of the Southern States."

SAMUEL T. WILLIAMS.

The death of Captain Samuel T. Williams will be deeply lamented by all who knew him. A wide circle of friends will mourn his untimely end. Thousands will miss him, sadly—in private life, in public life—by the fireside, at the bar, in the sanctum, and in the field of politics.

He was a universal favorite. His friendships were as extensive as his acquaintance. None could know him well without learning to esteem and admire him. For, he was a thorough gentleman, to begin with—refined and cultivated, and full of those pleasing graces of manner which constitute one of the principal charms of personal character. He was always affable, polite, and courteous, even under the most trying circumstances.

A more thoroughly amiable man never lived. He ever looked kindly, charitably on the men and things around him. No cynicism, no bitterness of soul, was known to his genial nature. He went through life with the sunniest of tempers—with a smile and a good word for everybody. His boon companions, those who met him around the social board, or in the forum, or anywhere in the private or public walks of life, can never forget these loveable traits, which so endeared him to his friends.

He was brave, and generous to a fault. There was a touch of true chivalric bearing in his gallantry. The soul of honor breathed through all that he did with pen, voice or sword—on fields of battle, on the public rostrum, at the bar, or in the sanctum of an editor. And no act can be recalled wherein he tarnished his name, or did aught that a gentleman and a patriot would be ashamed to confess.

Capt. Williams was a good lawyer, and a capital speaker. He won an enviable reputation as an orator in the canvass of 1868, when he opposed John T. Deweese for Congress from this District; and again when he led the forlorn hope, sacrificing his own interests for the good of his country, in the contest for the Solicitorship in this District in 1874. The services which he rendered the party in the dark and troublous days of reconstruction will never be forgotten. None but the brave, the unselfish and the true, could be found to bear the banner of Democracy in the hopeless political conflicts of that dismal period of North Carolina history. At all times he displayed the most unflinching patriotism.

For two years, he guided the political destinies of the NEWS, presiding over its columns as Editor-In-Chief. Even in that short space of time he made reputation as a journalist; and gave evidence of the possession of talents which would have enabled him to excel in this profession had he devoted himself to it. His pen was ever guided by the spirit of fairness, truth, and real conservatism.

He has fallen in the midst of a contest into which he had entered with a zeal, and an enthusiasm that indicated his whole soul was in the struggle for the right. He was rendering valuable service, with his voice, pen, and good example; and the place in our ranks made vacant by his untimely death cannot be filled. He loved North Carolina with a fervency that knew no bounds. No one would have done or dared more for her than Samuel T. Williams. He was ever ready to respond promptly to the call of duty, it mattered not what sacrifices were required, what hardships were to be endured, or what dangers were to be faced. The death of such a man, just as he was entering upon manhood's prime, is a loss to the whole State.

To his bereaved family we tender our heartfelt sympathy.

COL. KENAN AND HIS OLD REGIMENT.

The speaking in Wadesboro last Saturday was one of the most interesting occasions of the campaign. There in the vast assemblage of people were the veterans of the 43d N. C. Regiment, gathered together to greet their old commander, Col Thos. S. Kenan. It was a small band—a feeble remnant of the "Old Forty-Third." They were formed in line during the speaking, and at its close Col. Kenan, with head uncovered, passed between the ranks, shaking the hands of each old comrade warmly. Scores of men who witnessed it, it is said, were moved to tears. Impressive silence reigned. Old men bowed with age, whose sons had fallen under his leadership, one-legged and one-armed men, and men who bore upon their persons the honored scars of many hard-fought battles, took his hands and attested their love for him who had indeed been a friend, when a friend was needed.

When asked to take his position at the head of the column, to be escorted to the stand, he declined, saying as he placed himself in the rear, "No, you felt it your duty to follow me once, and now I feel it my duty to follow you."

The gem of the occasion was Col. Kenan's brief but eloquent address to his comrades of the war. Lieutenant L. L. Polk, in behalf of the old command, expressed the gratification and pleasure they felt at meeting him who was their beloved leader in the dark days that tried men's souls. Col. Kenan replied:

My old soldiers and friends this is one of the proudest and happiest days of my life. The recollection of this day and this scene, I shall fondly cherish as long as I live, and am truly proud of the opportunity and pleasure of seeing you again after so long a separation and taking each of you by the hand. You have been pleased to allude to my humble services as your leader during the war, and to honor me with the assurance of your approval of my course and conduct in that capacity. Allow me to say that I am to day proud to acknowledge you as my leader, and to express the hope that in our struggle for the preservation of our liberties, that the people will always be found in front. That those seeking or holding positions of trust and honor, should be the servants and followers of the people. Again thanking you for this demonstration of friendship and esteem, I wish now to take each of you by the hand.

TO "CAPTAIN" SETTLE, "Major" Smith, "Colonel" Hargrove, and other ex-Confederate officers, who now profess to be ashamed of having fought under the "Stars and Bars." we commend the following language from Col. Tom Kenan's speech at Wadesboro:

"The question as to whether the war was right or wrong, I have no time nor inclination to discuss, but I hold in utter contempt the man who will 'go back' on his war record—the man who will repudiate his record in that struggle and tramp on the sacred memories of our glorious dead."

THE National Republican, finding that Sherman will not permit the army to be used in the South for a partisan purpose, says: "The better course is to allow the election to go by default in all the States lately in rebellion, and elect our President by a decided Northern vote." That is an admission that the South is safe for Tilden.

DANIEL G. FOWLE was lustily cheered throughout his speech at Wilkesboro. There were no cheers for Daniel L. Russell. This is a certain evidence of the drift of public sentiment. All the fires of genuine enthusiasm are burning on our side of the line.

PERSONAL.

Rev. William S. Plumer, D. D., preached in Richmond, Va., on Wednesday night.

It is now claimed that President Lincoln was a spiritualist, and that "he issued the emancipation proclamation under 'spirit' inspiration."

Take notice that his ends with the lucky letter "n." Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, Van Buren, Harrison Buchanan Lincoln, Tilden, and Robinson.

A seedy looking individual was heard to say to a friend: "My dear fellow can't you lend me a black weskit for a short time. My aunt Betsy died a few days ago, and I want to take a short mourn."

POLITICAL NOTES.

If Mr. Wheeler's speeches yet to be made decrease Republican votes as that speech of his in Vermont the suspicion will be warranted that he is opposed to the Cincinnati ticket.—Philadelphia Times.

Now let the New York Democrats go to work. There is no time to be lost. We don't want a dollar of their money in Virginia for any purpose. Use it at home, friends, and let us hear a good report from you in November.—Richmond Dispatch.

Ben Hill made a ten-strike in his speech at Atlanta, Ga., on Saturday last when he was appointed to receive an American flag presented by Northern parties. The fury of the New York Times is the best evidence of the efficacy of his ponderous blows.

Senator Ransom's great speech of Tuesday night, in this city, was the general topic of conversation on the streets yesterday. His broad, statesmanlike, practical views meet with great favor among our people, and we have no doubt that his able effort will be productive of much good.—Wilmington Star.

Perhaps there may be some Democrats who are despondent because of the result in Maine. And yet there is not a Democrat in the land who ever claimed that State for Tilden. Wait till you hear from Indiana. If that State goes against Blue Jeans Williams, then you may say that you have "heard something drap."

Schurz, to justify his backsliding and return to the fold of the anti reformers, is fiercely denouncing Grant, as though the sacrifice of him was to atone for all of the sins of the Radical party. Grant may consent to become the scapegoat of his party, but it won't do. With all of his shortcomings he is about the best of his party.

The Radical papers threaten to bribe Tweed to make damaging disclosures against Mr. Tilden. That is they say Tweed intends to make such disclosures; and of course he would not make them without being bribed. Grant and Tweed perjurers and suborners of the same, would make an harmonious and congenial partnership in crime.

Dr. I. W. Jones, Radical candidate for Elector at large, said at Smith's school house last Friday evening; that he would not have supported the radical ticket or accepted the nomination of Elector, had he not had assurances that Tom Long and John Ramsay would be removed from the high offices which they disgrace. Go it Boots!—Salisbury Watchman.

Mr. Redfield says the Republicans are going to hold their own in South Carolina. Now the fact is they don't own much; but there is no objection to their holding their own if they will only let other people's alone. A little bird tells us there is a new spirit abroad, and there is no more stealing for Radical office-holders in South Carolina.—Columbia (S. C.) Register.

THE INFIDEL'S DREAM.

Bob Ingersoll, the Bloody-Shirt Orator

[N. Y. Sun.]

One night, after speaking in his usual fashion to an audience of many hundred persons, Bob Ingersoll went to his chamber, and laid him on his bed to rest. He had a dream.

The man dreamed that he stood in space, face to face with a great clock, that slowly beat out the seconds of a miserable existence. The face of the clock was as the ghastly face of death. The hands crawled over the face like the worms of corruption, and crawled slowly on toward the midnight hour. Every tick of the clock was the plash of a great drop of blood in a pool of gore. Every plash of blood sprinkled his bosom with hideous red. He tried vainly to wipe away the stain; and he found that his hands, too, were red like his bosom and like the pool of blood at the foot of the clock. But the hands of the clock crept on to midnight.

There shut in around him a hot, suffocating fog of night. Then the hopes and loves and hates and aspirations within him groaned and gasped and died. The hot, suffocating shroud of vapor wrapped him more closely, and he, too, groaned and gasped; but death came not to him as it had come to his hopes and affections. He stood there alone in the dying universe, alone with the great clock that splashed blood at the beat of every mi-erable second while the hands crawled on to midnight.

To this man every breath was an agony, every heart throb a century of pain. He felt his bones crumbling in decay, and his flesh rotting while it clung to him. His tongue was swollen in his mouth. His throat was dry and horribly bitter. He cared no longer for the stains of red blood, but bathed his brow and his eyes in the pool and moistened his lips with the clotted gore. In the same breath he blasphemed and prayed for the light of morning.

The hands of the clock reached midnight and stopped. There were no growing hours thereafter, no dawn, no morning light, no sun.—Even the blood stopped plashing, and the pool drifted away so that he could no longer moisten his lips or quench the indescribable thirst that consumed him.

In anguish that was terror and in terror that was agony, he broke the awful silence and cried:

"Is there no sunlight?"

A voice, louder, harsher, hoarser, and as sneering as his own, answered out of the silence:

"There is no sunlight for the stirrer up of strife."

After an eternity, again he cried:

"Is there no dawn?"

And the voice replied, with a bitterer sneer:

"There is no dawn for the denier and the liar and the blasphemer."

When an eternity of eternities had passed, he cried out once more:

"My God! Is there no morning?"

And the voice came back:

"There is no morning, and you have no God!"

The Future of America.

Professor Huxley, in his recent address at the opening of the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, said:

I constantly hear Americans speak of the charm which our old mother country has for them; of the delight with which they wander through the streets of ancient towns or climb on battlements of mediæval strongholds, the names of which are indissolubly associated with the great epochs of that noble literature which is our common inheritance, or with the blood-stained steps of that secular progress by which the descendants of the savage Britons and the wild pirates of the North Sea have become converted into warriors of orders and champions of peaceful freedom, exhausting what still remains of the old Berserker spirit in subduing nature and turning the wilderness into a garden. But anticipation has no less charm than retrospect, and to an Englishman landing upon your shores for the first time, traveling for hundreds of miles through strings of great and well-ordered cities, seeing your enormous, actual, and almost infinite potential wealth in all commodities, and in the energy and ability which turn wealth to account, there is something sublime in the vista of the future. Do not suppose that I am pandering to what is commonly understood by national pride. I cannot say that I am in the slightest degree impressed by your bigness, or your material resources as such. Size is not grandeur, and territory does not make a nation. The great issue about which hangs a true sublimity, and the tenor of overhanging fate is what are you going to do with all these things? What is to be the end to which these are to be the means? You are making a novel experiment in politics on the greatest scale which the world has yet seen. Forty millions at your first centenary; it is reasonably to be expected that at the second these States will be occupied by two hundred million of English-speaking people, spread over an area as large as that of Europe, and with climates and interests as diverse as those of Spain and Scandinavia, England and Russia. You and your descendants have to ascertain whether this great mass will hold together under the forms of a republic and the despotic reality of universal suffrage; whether State rights will hold out against centralization will get the better without actual or disguised monarchy; whether shifting corruption is better than a permanent bureaucry; and as population thickens in your great cities and the pressure of want is felt, the gaunt spectre of pauperism will stalk among you and communism and socialism will claim to be heard. Truly America has a great future before her—great in toil, in care, in responsibility; great in true glory if she be guided in wisdom and righteousness; great in shame if she fail. I cannot understand why other nations should envy you or fail to see that it is for the highest interests of mankind that you should succeed; but the one condition of success, your sole safeguard, is the moral worth and intellectual clearness of the individual citizen. Education cannot give these, but it can cherish them and bring them to the front in whatever station of society they are to be found, and the universities ought to be, and may be, the fortresses of the higher life of the nation. May the university which commences its practical activity to-morrow abundantly fulfil its high purpose; may its renown as a seat of true learning, a centre of free inquiry, a focus of intellectual light, increase year by year until men wander hither from all parts of the earth, as of old they sought Bologna, or Paris, or Oxford; and it is pleasant to me to fancy that among the English students who are drawn to you on that day there may linger a dim tradition that a countryman of theirs was permitted to address you as he has done to-day, and I feel as if your cause were his cause, and your success his joy.

Senator Ransom on the Colored Question.

[Journal's Report of a Speech in Wilmington Wednesday night.]

One of the most difficult and at the same time the most interesting topics of Gen. Ransom's speech was the relations which the negro race bear to the white race in the Southern States since the enfranchisement of the former. He told them, and there was a large number of them present to hear him, that he had no animosity against them, no unkind feeling of whatever nature, no desire to abridge or lessen one of the privileges, franchises or rights which had been conferred upon them by the legislature or Congress or by the constitutional amendments. But he told them frankly that it was the consummation of folly for them even to expect to control the government of the Southern States, and that the men who attempted to lead them to the belief that they would eventually have a controlling influence in the affairs of this government, were their worst enemies. This he told them in full confidence that they would not misunderstand his position. He had declared his position before the nation, in the United States Senate, had put it down in black and white, had said that he would fight for their rights as he would fight for his own, yet he would have the negro to know that the history of the world had proven that the negro race was an inferior race to the white man, and that the negro could never occupy a position of equality with the white man.

Democratic Prospects in the West.

[Philadelphia Times.]

Vermont and Maine stood the bloody-shirt and sectional hate programme of the Republicans after a fashion. It was doubtless the best way ont for the endangered and desperate leaders; but even the intense Republican prejudices of the Puritans could not stand up squarely in the lines, and the result is the smallest Republican majorities ever given at the September elections in a Presidential year. But now the battlefield is transferred to the broader and more progressive ideas of the West, and Pennsylvania is on the outer edge of the conflict, and must be sensibly affected by the ebb and flow of the tides which will finally make up the flood of victory for one or the other of the contending parties. The issues which quickened the hate of New England and made her people close their eyes to the degredation of Republican rule, will be tempered in Pennsylvania. Ohio and Indiana by the universal prostration of their industries and the distress of their people, and they will be content to let fraternity and peace come with the Centennial year, as they call their political servants to a somewhat rigid account of their stewardship.

A Short Long Island Love Story.

Miss Ida Foster, youngest daughter of a wealthy citizen of Flushing, L. I., was to have been married last Wednesday to a neighbor named Hicks, the prospective possessor of $75,000. At least so her parents ordained, and so it was announced. Miss Ida herself, too, had countenanced the report to the extent of going to church with Hicks and appearing in his company at places of popular resort. But on the day before that appointed for the marriage Miss Ida was not to be found. The same morning Frank Slocum, the day fireman of the engine at the Flushing water-works was not at his post. Subsequent investigation disclosed the fact that Miss Ida had followed Hicks to the gate as he left the house the evening before and, instead of returning, flew to the expectant arms of Slocum, who straightway took her to his parents' house in Jersey City where they were married. Thursday morning the energetic bridegroom returned to his post in the engine-house, and when confronted by his bride's indignant father, who threatened to disinherit her, said that he had married for love, and was perfectly able to support his wife.

1876. Circular. 1876.

The undersigned take this opportunity of thanking the people of Raleigh and vicinity for their liberal patronage during the past season, and by fair dealing we trust to merit their confidence in the future.

In order to meet the demand for the approaching Fall trade, we have placed our orders in the hands of leading manufacturers of FINE SHOES, some of whom exhibit their productions at the Great Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia, which, for style, quality and price, cannot be surpassed.

We also invite attention to our complete stock of TRUNKS, SATCHELS and VALISES. In Men's and Boys Wear, we shall introduce the celebrated Newark, (New Jersey) work. In Ladies', Misses' and Children's Shoes, Philadelphia work will be preferred. For Farmers and Mechanics, we shall keep a full supply of Kip Boots, Brogans and Plough Shoes—prison work.

Again thanking you for past favors, we hope by personal attention to the wants of the trade to merit your patronage in the future. Very respectfully,

THE ROBESONIAN.

Published every Wednesday morning in Lumberton, N. C., by W. Wallace McDiarmid, has the largest circulation of any country paper in the State. It circulates extensively in the counties of Robeson, Richmond Bladen Columbus, Cumberland, Brunswick, and in the adjoining counties of Marion, Marlboro and Darlington, in South Carolina. As a Local Newspaper it has no superior. It is one of the few country papers whose Editor and Publisher gives his whole time and attention to its columns.

In politics the ROBESONIAN will strive to promote the principles of the Democratic-Conservative party, and is uncompromisingly in favor of White supremacy. Its local columns will always teem with the latest and best news, written in a brief, intelligent and business-like manner. Its editorials will be short and lucid and upon subjects which directly concern our people. As an advertising medium it is much sought after and has a patronage second to no other country paper. Established in 1870, it has ever since been increasing in influence and popularity until it has reached and occupied the very front rank of North Carolina journalism.

RATES—CASH IN ADVANCE—One year, $2.50; Six months, $1.25; Three months, 75 cents. Send a three-cent stamp for specimen copy. Advertising furnished on application. Also our campaign rates which are very low.

THE ROCKY MOUNT MAIL

Published every Friday at Rocky Mount N. C. Is a first-rate advertising medium, especially for those soliciting patronage from the section in which it is published. It has a fine local and general circulation, and is the only paper published in Nash county. Terms moderate, and can be found on first page.

NOON DISPATCHES.

YELLOW JACK.

It is Reported as Prevailing in Baltimore—Official Denial of the Statement.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A special despatch to the World from Baltimore, of the 15th, says: "The greatest apprehension prevails here to-day on account of the prevalence of some 15 cases of yellow fever in the eastern section of the city, in a locality adjacent to the ship wharves, where hundreds of seafaring men find lodging. Nothing was known of the presence of the epidemic until to-day.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16.—A telegram having been sent from this city stating that yellow fever prevailed here, and great apprehension was felt, the Mayor and health department was applied to this forenoon for an official statement of the facts. The Mayor, Gen. Ferdinand C. Latrobe, states that no case of yellow fever prevails in Baltimore; that official reports were made to him up to last evening from Dr. Stewart, Health Commissioner, and Dr. Howard, Quarantine Physician, and not a case of yellow fever was reported or has occurred. In his report, submitted yesterday, Dr. Stewart states that typhoid malarial fever prevails to some extent in a locality in East-Baltimore, those fronting the back basin in tenement houses at the foot of Thames, Dollost and Caroline streets; that he visited this locality yesterday, and found 12 or 13 cases of this fever, which originated from the bad sanitary condition of the neighborhood, most of which were improving. The persons suffering were not stevedores, and none of the cases could in any way be traced to the shipping in harbor. The disease disappears on thorough disinfection of the locality, which has been applied.

FOREIGN.

Rain in the East—Military Operations Suspended — Gladstone Criticises Derby, &c.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—A Belgrade dispatch says the rain has been incessant for two days. By systematically burning the villages, the Turks have destroyed what would have been their shelter. Important military operations are now impossible. The Servians have supplies for a year campaign at Deligrad and Alexinatz. The Turks are obliged to haul everything from Nisch. Their withdrawal to Nisch is expected. The Times editorially says the European powers cannot permit Turkey to re-occupy the fortresses which she held up to 1857.

A Vienna special to the News says Germany will not support Russia's demand on Turkey, and in case of war, will remain absolutely neutral.

The Times publishes a letter from Mr. Gladstone on Derby's speeches. Gladstone finds fault with the government for merely protesting and remonstrating, and concludes that the time has come to say you must let Europe define what is just, and then enact it. Gladstone expresses the belief that the circumstances now demand an early re-assembling of Parliament.

Desperate Suffering on the Colorado Desert.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—A dispatch from Los Angelos narrates a tale of terrible suffering on the Colorada desert. Henry Smith, from St. Louis, with one companion and a pack train, left Yuma for Los Angelos and wandered four days on the desert without water. Smith opened the veins of his arm and drank his blood, which clotted in his throat. He then cut his wind-pipe to remove it and died in a few hours after his companion reached the station in the last stage of exhaustion.

NIGHT DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

Suspected Murder — Disinfectants to be Used on Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—John Breeze, who has been on duty with the Asiatic squadron for the past four years, arrived at Mare Island in July, and reported that he would proceed home. He was in St. Louis on August 7th, en route home, but is since unheard of. He had $2,000 to $3,000 and it is feared hat he was robbed and murdered.

The chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery of the Navy, has instructed commanders of vessels of the North Atlantic station, to have their vesse'ls thoroughly disinfected; they are also instructed to keep their vessels isolated from merchantmen.

NEW YORK.

Coal Sale—Woodhull Divorced—Meeting of Creditors.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The Pennsylvania Coal Company will sell, on Wednesday next, 100,000 tons of Pittston coal.

The referee in the suit of Victoria Woodhull for absolute divorce from Col. Jas. H. Blood, on the ground of adultery, has reported, recommending the judgment asked.

At a meeting of the creditors of the City of Memphis, to-day, a committee of bondholders was appointed to hold a conference with the Mayor of Memphis and agree upon some basis of settlement.

FOREIGN.

An English Editorial View of the Eastern Question.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Times, to-day, in a leading article on the Turkish peace conditions, concludes as follows: "Although the Porte has said its last word, the great powers have not said theirs. It remains for them to signify by a collective act what terms of peace are admissable, and Turkey will indeed have begun a new chapter of her history if she should resist their united counsels. Her unbending attitude almost warrants the suspicion that to save her own dignity in the presence of her vassal, she is waiting for the pressure of those powers which as they protect must also command. It would be gratifying to think that in such a crisis the temper of our own foreign office is firm enough and its purpose sufficiently decided to be truly representative of the nation; but Mr. Gladstone's letter is a formidable indictment, and if the foreign office should continue to resist the popular wishes, his demand for an autumn session of Parliament may speedily become that of the country."

Hayes' Picture Hissed and Tilden's Applauded in a Washington Theatre.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—There was a most amazing occurrence in the National Theatre to-night, probably attributable to the large number of visitors in the city. The pictures of Hayes and Tilden were displayed during the play. Hayes was heartily hissed as Tilden was applauded.

The New York State Fair a Failure.

ALBANY, Sept. 16.—The State Fair, though one of the best exhibitions ever held, is found to have been a failure financially. The Centennial Fair has affected this and other home enterprises disastrously.

MISCELLANEOUS TELEGRAMS.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—There were 91,891 pay admissions to the Centennial to-day.

NORFOLK, Sept. 16.—A fearful storm has been prevailing for the last 24 hours. The rain fell here three inches, and five inches at Cape Henry, where the wind is blowing forty-five miles an hour.

KNOXVILLE, Sept. 16.—The East-Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad bridge, over the Tennessee River at London, was finished to-day, and two passenger and six freight trains passed over it this afternoon.

SAVANNAH, Sept. 16.—Total interments to-day, 28; yellow fever, 21. The weather is very threatening with northeast wind and rain, and is bad for those who are sick.
